

INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S DAY

2022: #BreakTheBias

Get yourself a Pride Progress Pin

Howdy y'all! We want to wish everyone a Happy International Women's month! We're celebrating all women and femmes-- including queer women, masculine presenting women, and trans women. As LA enters that weird time of year where you need a parka in the morning and AC by 3pm, a lot is happening here at MedLambda. Thank you to everyone who bought a Pride Progress Pin! We are still taking orders here. Take a look below at upcoming MedLambda events and queer news

International Transgender Day of Visibility, March 31st

Honoring and celebrating the transgender community

Transgender Day of Visibility recognizes the fight for trans rights, as well as celebrates the achievements of the trans community. Transgender folks were and are instrumental in the fight for queer liberation, and they still face discrimination in their workplaces, communities, and homes. Much progress has been made, but there are still fights to be won. Take this day to elevate and celebrate the transgender individuals in your life and across the country!

“Don’t Say Gay” Florida Bill

New legislation puts limits on LGBTQ education in schools

The Florida state legislature has passed a new bill that restricts the teaching of LGBTQIA subjects in kindergarten through 3rd grade. Additionally, this bill gives parents power to sue schools for teaching LGBTQIA topics and requires teachers to out queer students to parents. Gov. DeSantis is anticipated to sign it into law. Additional anti-LGBTQ laws are also passing in Iowa and Texas, and we encourage everyone to get involved. Visit the ACLU or HRC to learn more.

“You have to act as if it were possible to radically transform the world. And you have to do it all the time.”

-Angela Davis, activist, feminist, LGBTQIA ally
